FOOD COMPLIANCE STATEMENT: EDIBLE PRECOOK/PROCESSED COLLAGEN CASINGS

Processed collagen casings are tubular artificial casings produced from collagen protein obtained from hides of bovine origin. These casings are edible and are typically used for the production of cooked meat products, smoked or not, but they can also be used to produce dry-fermented products and other non-meat products like cheese, corn sausages, etc.

Components	Percentage
Collagen	47 - 54%
Water	19 - 25%
Glycerine (food grade)	14 - 17%
Cellulose (food grade)	3 - 7%
Oil (food grade)	3 - 5%
Permitted colours (if any)	0 - 3%

The products listed in this document comply to the following food legislation:

- Recommendation labeling: Edible collagen casing. If coloured, colour components must also be mentioned, by name or with the E number after the class name (colours).
- Processed collagen casings are intended at being consumed together with the products they contain. They comply with European Regulation (EC) No. 853/2004 of the European Parliament as amended.
